

LWNPF Survey of business addresses February 2024, update to LBU 2021 report

A walk by and internet search of businesses in the Little Woodhouse was carried out in February 2024 by Little Woodhouse Neighbourhood Planning Forum members. The data was recorded by hand, transferred to a spreadsheet and sorted by services – the summary is shown below. A verbal report informed a discussion of the revised Employment Section of the Neighbourhood Plan at the LWNPF meeting held 4 March 2024.

A previous survey was undertaken by Leeds Beckett University Urban Planning Masters students in 2021 and their maps of employment and main results of this and the 2024 survey are discussed below on page 4.

Total of businesses recorded March 2024: 208

Similar surveys were conducted in 2016 by LWNP and in 2021 by a team of Leeds Beckett University Urban Planning Masters students as part of a Neighbourhood Planning module. Their main findings from 2021 are shown in the next section (page 3), with additional comments from the 2024 survey.

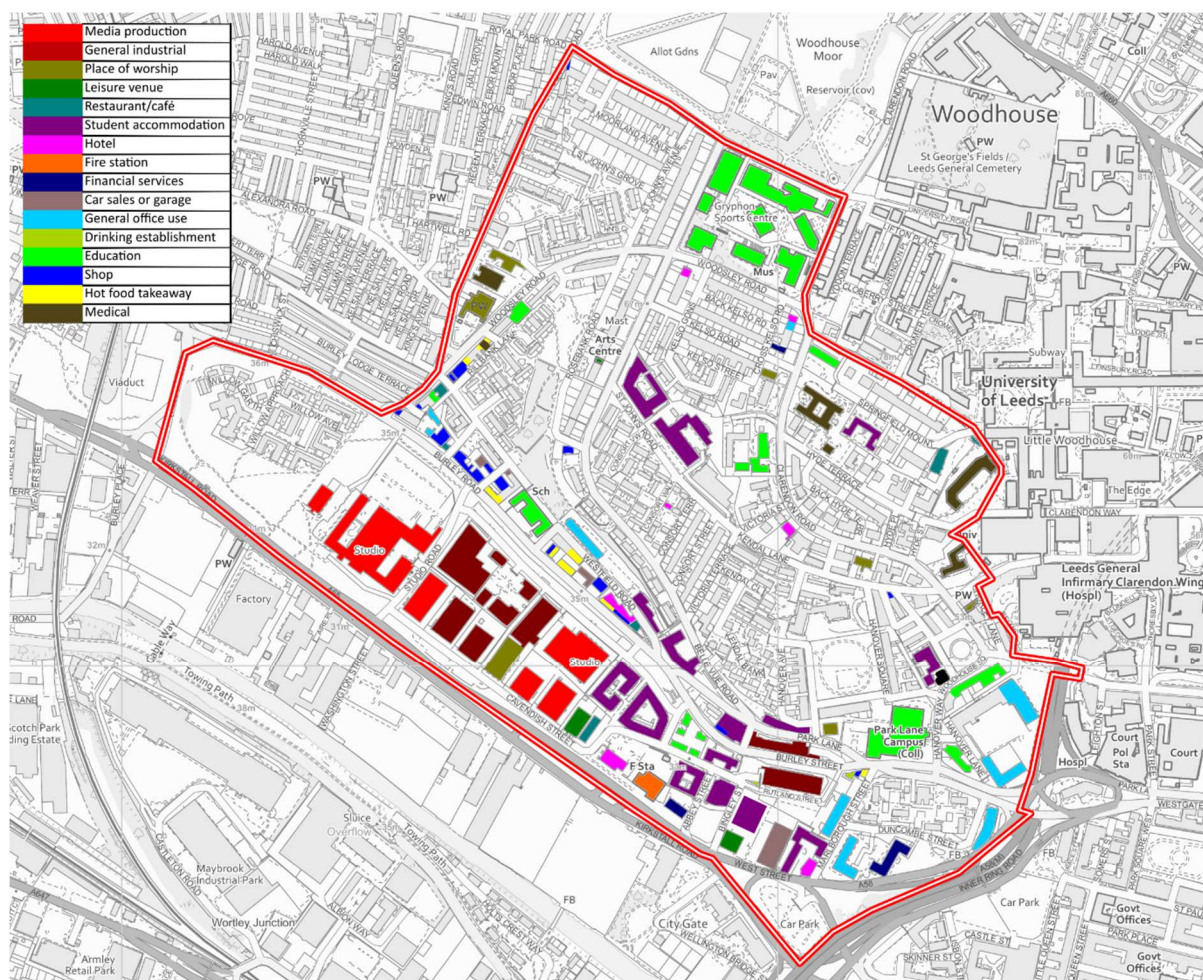

Some implications for neighbourhood planning (Forum discussion: 4 March 2024)

- The LW Area houses residents who by and large work or study outside the immediate area, but the area provides employment in a wide range of services, attracting people travelling into the area to work. The retail area provides opportunities for small businesses to service the student and residential areas.
- The importance of training and education for the future economy – it is LW's main "export".
- Home working and working at home is growing (as demand for office space goes down) – this is included in the NPlan policies (E1 & E2).
- Working/studying from home – noise consideration
- May be too early to say if the low demand for offices is a permanent change.
- Changes of use, including permitted development, eg from office to residential or student accommodation
- Effects of any future vacancy of large employment sites or offices.
- Takeaways and delivery services are here to stay – they are used by other groups as well as by students.
- Wide range of cuisines are represented, eg African, Caribbean, Persian, Bengali/Punjabi
- There is a turnover especially in takeaways with a few vacant shops.
- Daytime and nighttime opening means there are always some shops closed and shuttered.
- Accommodation above retail premises needs to be considered.
- Kirkstall Road is becoming a lively hospitality area and developing the boulevard would greatly improve this as an amenity area for nearby residents and people working or visiting – this is in the N Plan and LCC also agree with this aim.
- Arts organisations can provide vision for the area and employment eg East Street Arts, Mabgate – noted the Open Source studios on the south side of Kirkstall Rd. Arts often use premises that others do not want – there is nothing in the NPlan to hinder this.
- Shortage of indoor public meeting places
- There is a lack of playgrounds – LW area meets the legal requirements but the NPlan aims to encourage use of small green spaces.
- Improving access and greenery on routes to universities, hospital and city centre by walking, cycling and public transport.
- Improving facilities for non-residents working in the area eg green spaces, public seating.
- Parking by commuters can be a problem for residents, though much of the area is covered by restricted parking
- Visitors to health facilities may find parking difficult

LBU Masters Group 7 – LITTLE WOODHOUSE NEIGHBOURHOOD PLAN EMPLOYMENT ANALYSIS – GROUP 7
 Ronan Carnally, Kirsty Evans, Tran Son Hai and Melissa Hunt

This is a map to show every identifiable place of employment within the boundary, as surveyed in April 2021. It is clear to see both that there is quite a variety of different uses, and that they are clustered into particular areas and corridors, leaving most of the centre of the neighbourhood area as housing.

Notable company is OilGear – producing hydraulic engineering parts is the sole survivor of the industrial past.

Media production

The largest sectors are media production at ITV and mixed industrial uses, which are exclusively clustered along A65 Kirkstall Road, which have been present since that end of the site was cleared of housing in the 1970s. These large companies employ a range of skilled workers and require the good wide access roads that surrounds them.

The cluster of media companies dominate the west end of the Kirkstall Road employment area. Identified as potential for development in 'A Vision for Leeds' (LCC, March 2024)

Education

The next largest employment sector is education, which is associated with the University of Leeds Western Campus, Leeds City College at Park Lane Campus (including a sixth form centre and a university centre), Rosebank Primary School (including Nursery provision), and two community skills centres on Woodsley Road, one language school on Woodsley Rd, one in St Andrews Court off Burley Street (2024). The one surviving primary school, points to the relatively low number of families with children resident in Little Woodhouse.

Purpose built student accommodation (note added 2024)

A number of large blocks dominate the eastern ends of Burley and Kirkstall Roads. They include Sentinel Towers, Hepworth Lodge, Marsden House, Burley Living Village, Concept House, Unite, Iconinc, The Triangle, Roomzzz (aparthotel), and nearby Asa Briggs House, Sycamore House, several blocks in Clarendon Road and Hyde Terrace, these have been recently joined by The Foundry, The Tannery, The Refinery (all in Cavendish St), Oak House (Park Lane), Union (46 Burley St), Trapezium (Park Lane area), and a new development site on the corner of Park Lane and Burley St

Retail – mainly food & drink and personal services

Supermarkets occupy ground floor units in Asa Briggs House and Union (46 Burley St) and The Triangle has restaurant and takeaway outlets on its ground floor. Related to the student and private rental market, a selection of retail shops, furniture, motor works and takeaways, hairdressing and computer/mobile services along the high streets of Burley Road and Woodsley Road, often occupying only the ground floor of their building, but tending to employ low-skilled and low-paid workers.

Arrival of two Vape shops and some turnover and a few vacant premises noted in 2024.

Hospitality

A small section near the Inner Ring Road hosts two hotels and a casino, and Northern Snooker Centre, conveniently located for both commuting and visiting.

Also bars Archive and Kirkstall Brewery attract a number of visitors, as does the North Church on Kirkstall Road. Closure of the Highland pub in 2023 was said to be because of a lack of appeal to student customers. (added 2024)

Professional services

There is a collection of medical and professional services offices on parts adjoining the LGI and University. Recent trends to more working from home (WFH) have reduced demand for office spaces and permitted development planning rules now allow conversion to residential use without making planning applications Eg Exchange Court on Duncombe St (added 2024)

Faith, health and community (added 2024)

Though there is no Church of England within the area, St George's and All Hallows are close to the boundaries. The Methodist Mission, the North Church, the Greater World Service Spiritualist Church and the Church of Latter Day Saints are based in the area. Two mosques serve Muslim communities (Leeds Grand Mosque and Ahlul Bayt) and there are two organisations focussed on support for Jewish students. There is a GP surgery and community nursing team, two pharmacies and a dental practice in the area, also several mental health services are based here, including the 5Way Recovery Academy and Student Minds, a charity supporting student mental health. The Leeds Samaritans centre is based in Clarendon Road. Hyde Park Source operates voluntary environmental projects across the city and is also a great support to the Rosebank Millennium Green. Artlink has offered creative arts projects to people using mental health and other services over many years though sadly is facing closure because of funding difficulties. The area offers a cheaper alternative to the city centre and many of the faith and community services are available to city- wide users, rather than only to locally resident people.

Workforce attracted from outside the area to work in the area

Firstly, the range of types of business is not as diverse as it has potential to be for an area the size of Little Woodhouse, with the major employers such as ITV and the University mainly pulling their workers in from other areas of the city and country. This leaves a small concentrations of independent businesses such as takeaways as the main source of employment for residents of the area, which can only employ a limited number of people. The sustainability of this situation in neighbourhoods such as this is questionable. The services provided respond to the demand of the nearby population groups: such as students and young professionals and diverse communities. Having an area allocated for Employment is also important for the area – though partly on the flood plain, there is capacity for future change in patterns of economy and employment in the Employment area.

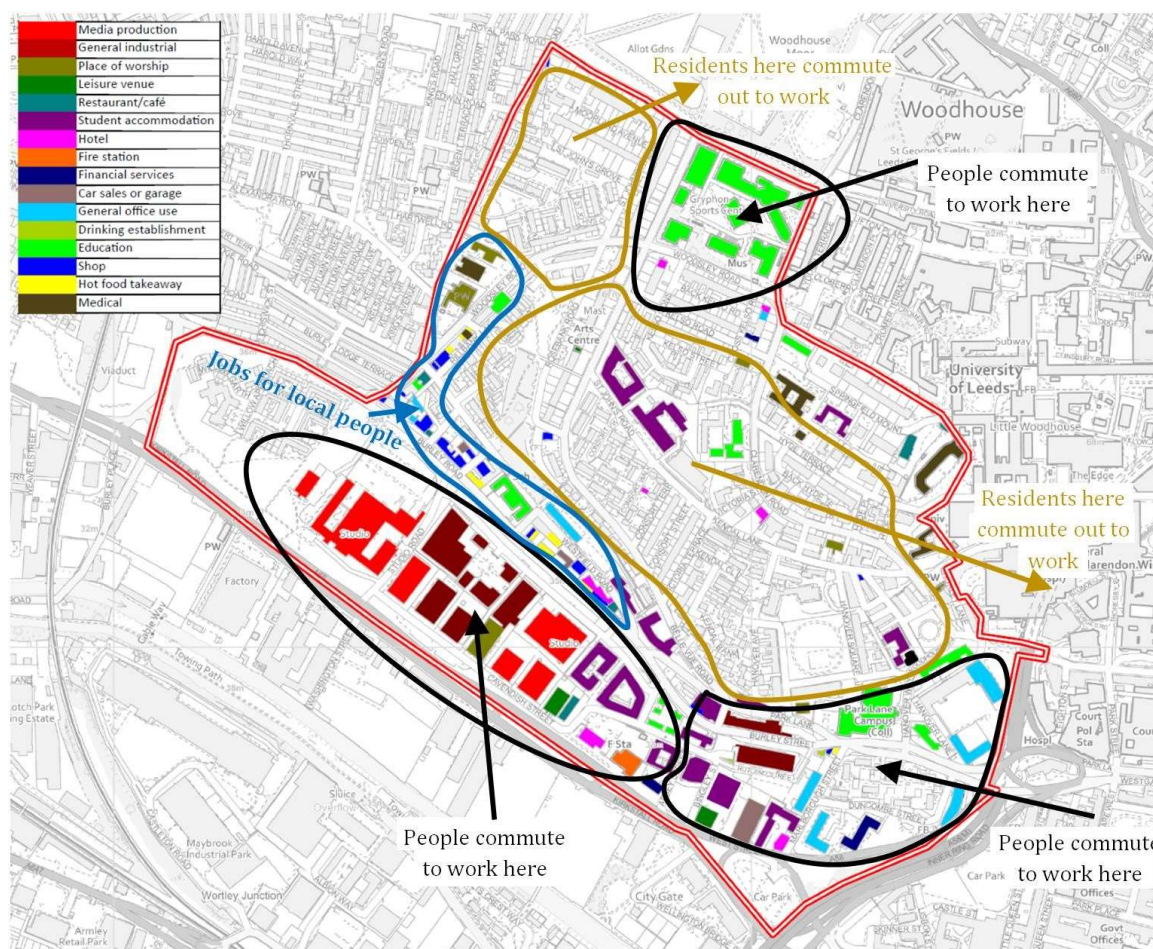

Fig. 8 Zones of Employment location illustrates the rough zones from which employment occurs in these general categories:

- residents mainly in the central areas, commuting outside to work, convenient both for nearby locations or for transport links or working or studying from home
- workplaces which non-Little Woodhouse residents commute into, mainly in the Burley/Kirkstall Road corridor and in the area next to the city centre
- and workplaces which employ people who live above or within close proximity – mainly in the Burley and Woodsley Roads.

Population mix of students and workers - based in the area but commuting out of the area

The student population – making Little Woodhouse an area affected by the ‘town v gown’ debate on the effects of studentification, although not to the extent of neighbouring Hyde Park and Headingley – constitutes around three quarters of residents, while many of the working residents of the neighbourhood will commute out of it, to the city centre or other places, for their jobs.

This leaves the neighbourhood with a mixed character of

- part dormitory or working/studying from home and
- part a location of employment for people outside the area.

With grateful thanks and acknowledgement to:

Leeds City Council – A Vision for Leeds – a decade of city centre growth and wider prosperity (March 2024)

https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/media/65e865d962ff48001a87b24b/A_vision_for_Leeds.pdf

This document was published just as evidence documents for the Plan had been prepared. A Vision for Leeds will be part of the review of the Local Plan and aims to plot a course for ‘the next wave of transformative place shaping’. Among the six Key Neighbourhoods identified for development are two which cover parts of the Little Woodhouse Area:

The Innovation Arc – linking the Universities, Health and Legal & Office areas includes the new hospital on the LGI site and potential for 3000 new homes. Aims include the ‘re-stitching of neighbouring areas’ including Little Woodhouse, and one of the proposed Gateways runs along Gt George St into Woodhouse Square

West End Riverside – stretches from City Square over the ring road to Kirkstall Road and the river/canal corridor, recognised as a natural area of city centre sustainable growth. The Vision for Leeds identifies the opportunities to expand the Media cluster, and also identifies the potential for 2000 new homes. It will explore opportunities for land use changes along the Kirkstall Road corridor and mixed-use gateway to the Riverside Area.
